Product description

The Porsche Panamera G2/971 PCCB ceramic brake disc for the rear left axle offers outstanding performance for your vehicle. This 19-inch brake disc has been specially developed for the Porsche Panamera model 971 and guarantees optimum braking performance under a wide range of conditions.

The brake disc is made of high-quality ceramic, which is known for its durability and resistance to high temperatures and wear. The use of ceramic material significantly reduces the weight of the brake disc, resulting in improved handling and efficiency of the vehicle. In addition, the material ensures lower heat transfer to the brake system, which further increases performance and safety.

The brake disc is marked as an original Porsche part (OEM numbers 971615601K and 971615601C) and meets the highest quality standards. This ensures a perfect fit and function as intended by the manufacturer.

The item is new, which means it is unused, undamaged and in perfect condition. As an original Porsche part, this brake disc offers a reliable and durable solution for the braking requirements of your Porsche Panamera.

Invest in the safety and performance of your vehicle with the Porsche Panamera G2/971 PCCB ceramic brake disc. It is the ideal choice for drivers who do not want to compromise on quality and performance.
